Mrs. Rowena Wagner was assigned to be my student teacher the first half of the 2000 spring semester. My sixth grade class consisted of 26 heterogeneously grouped students. Rowena was responsible for teaching disciplines of reading, spelling, math, three classes of social studies, as well as the daily routine of the classroom.

Rowena always demonstrated an abundance of enthusiasm while teaching her lessons. She was always well prepared and in command of the necessary knowledge to present her lessons. Almost everyday, Rowena supplemented her lessons with reference materials or "teacher-made" instructional materials. On many occasions she reported to school much earlier than required and stayed past the required time at the end of the day to work on various projects. She used many different types of teaching styles in presenting her lessons. Many times she would have a different activity planned for each of the three social studies classes.

Rowena was very cooperative and always receptive to any ideas or suggestions that I offered. Often she would seek information or suggestions from me to help in her lessons and then would incorporate those suggestions in future lessons.

Rowena was always well groomed and presented herself as a professional. She was readily accepted by the faculty and staff at Cochranton Elementary as an equal. She was always fair, firm and consistent when dealing with students. I feel Rowena has achieved competency in her student teaching experience and will be an excellent teacher in the future.
